Welcome to Vermont and up state New York, home of mild winters and great flying weather! Today I'm happy to stay inside and write the newsletter as it's -5 below and we are right in the middle of one of this year's biggest winter snow storms. I had to shovel the walk way just to get the mail and paper and it took me over a half hour and I froze to death. I hope by this time all of our club member are safe and warm and working on the next airplane project!

At the January meeting I was introduced to two new prospective members, Tom Thornbury and his close friend Claes Sjogreen, both are also involved in the EAA with Leik. We also have a new member, Chad Richards, from the old Tunnel City flying club and he has just purchased a house in North Adams and thinks the short drive will be worth it to come fly with us this coming year. He has an Extra 300 which he says he enjoyed flying so much that he wore it out and now flies a 3D trainer. Tom is working on a Sig Cadet Senior and is looking for both technical help in setting it up and some training. Boy oh boy did he join the right club or what! Again let's all welcome the above new members and give them all the extra help we are well known for.

Also Ken Mc has said that a fellow from his work is interested in becoming a new member, hope to see him and all of our great club members at the next meeting in March.

I'm starting to fill my freezer with some of the best Hot Dogs around and come this summer remember that every 3rd Saturday we will have a club picnic and I'll be glad to provide the Dogs.

Ray, Steve and I all met up at the Vernon airplane auction. Lots and lots of planes, in fact, Ray stayed till the bitter end trying to get some of the clubs donated planes sold. Hat's off to Ray and to all the club members who donated stuff to sell at the auction. My good friends Mark Austin and Bill Smith were working Bill's flight simulator booth and it looked like they were busy. If you need a great flight simulator give Bill a call and I'm sure he will fix you right up. As for Mark Austin, he had his son with him and he got talked into buying Tyler a very nice plane. We miss both of them but they are settling in well in their new home in NH.

If any one wants to go to the upcoming WRAM show on the weekend of the 24, please give me a call (802) 442-3522 and I will help with and car pooling issues. The show is 3 days but the best day to go is Saturday because you get extra hours to look over all the new stuff.

Snow is still coming down and it's just about time to fly my Blade CX downstairs in the basement, see you all at the next meeting, March 4th at 7pm.

Till then, stay warm and keep building your dream airplanes.
